ABOUT ME

With a strong passion for public speaking, PR, and scriptwriting, I have actively pursued these interests during my time as a student from 2019 to 2023. As a member of the student union, I honed my leadership skills through active involvement in various events, assuming responsibilities within the organizing team. These experiences required me to coordinate and oversee attendees at college concerts, as well as supervise and delegate tasks to younger students, ensuring their efficient completion. Complementing my practical experiences, I deepened my understanding of public relations through both academic coursework and an internship. Taking a core course in college allowed me to gain theoretical knowledge, while the internship provided invaluable hands-on learning opportunities alongside industry professionals. In addition to my expertise in public speaking and PR, I possess strong technical proficiency in Word, Excel, and PowerPoint, having utilized these software extensively for academic assignments. Furthermore, I am fluent in English, French, and Arabic, enabling effective communication in diverse settings. This professional background has equipped me with the necessary skills and knowledge to excel in roles related to public speaking, PR, and scriptwriting. I am eager to contribute my expertise and further develop my abilities in a dynamic professional environment.
