PROFILE

As a newly graduated pharmacy assistant, I bring a strong understanding of pharmacy operations along with excellent sales skills in various fields, including cosmetics, medical supplies, and general medications. I have a proven ability to communicate effectively with customers, understand their needs, and recommend the right products, resulting in increased sales and customer satisfaction. Despite being at the start of my career, I consistently demonstrate reliability, competence, and a focused approach to my work, ensuring quality service and building trust with clients. My experience spans across different product categories, enabling me to contribute effectively to both customer service and business growth.
